Do rock paper scissors and decide the turn. Each player draws one play card from the play card's deck in the middle. A player can put in the box (completes to deliver a letter) when a picture of drawn play card matches with that of a letter card in hand. Repeat this and the player who finishes deliveries first with no cards left is the winner.

Example;

If the player draws a frog card and has a flog's letter card, put the letter card in the box.

Must say "One left" when only one card left.

How to play

- Deal 4 letter cards to each player.
★ May adjust the number of the cards based on the number of players or ages.
- Play and place letter cards face up in front of each player. Pile the leftover letter cards and play cards face down in the middle as shown in the upper right picture and place the box of the game in the middle to be used as a storage place for cards that have been delivered. Now the game is ready.

Q & A

- Q How to use the letter card in the deck?
A If you get a "Pick up" card, use it.
- Q If a letter card matches a play card drawn by another player, can I discard it?
A No Only in your turn.
- Q What to do if the deck runs out during game?
A Turn the cards over again and make a deck. Shuffle both card decks well.

Action Cards

There are 3 action cards to make a game more interesting.

"Blown Away" card

A player with this card can give one letter card away to another player. Use this card to a player who has less letter cards and is about to win.

"Pick Up" card

There is a letter on a stump of a tree... Let's deliver this misplaced letter! A player with this card draws one letter card from the deck.

"Swallow Delivery" card

A player with this card can discard one letter card from their own cards. Discard a letter card that is difficult to deliver.

Beginner game

Young players who don't understand the action cards can play the game without those cards.

Advanced game

Play this game with giving a score. Score is the number of leftover letter cards of each player when the first player finishes delivering. Keep playing this game several times and keep the score. The winner is a player with less score at the end.

	①	②	③	Total
Anne	0	2	2	4
Haya	1	3	0	4
Yai	1	0	2	3

Another way to play

Play as concentration. Take the "Swallow Delivery" card and use the leftover play cards (20 cards). It is good for little kids.
